

ENERGY STRATEGIES

Europe and the Mediterranean: trends and scenarios for a connected energy market is right around the corner!

Join us this Wednesday and Thursday (March 24 and 25)
in a content-rich, engaging digital framework
to discuss the future of energy security and markets in the Euro-Mediterranean area.

You will be able to send your questions to the speakers through the dedicated section on the app.
They will be discussed during the Q&A session,
in accordance with the time available.

Access our platform here:

www.natofoundation-talks.com

If you have not registered yet, just click on the link,
insert your email, name and surname, choose a password,
and start navigating the NDCF Talks innovative webapp
where the event will be live-streamed in both English and Italian.

*If you have already had access to the platform for our latest conference in December 2020, enter the password you chose then,
or click on "reset password".*

The agenda of the working days and all details on the topics of discussion can be found also on the dedicated page on our website.

Get familiar with the platform starting from today
and discover all the material available!

Enclosed are the instructions to log in for the first time.

Stay tuned for what promises to be a timely event!
